Claims 30-38 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on November 30, 2004.

Claim 29 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 29 is directed to a method of manufacturing an anti-diabetic agent according to claim 17 but is limited to combining a compound of formula (1) with a pharmaceutically acceptable carrier. However, note that the agent of claim 17 includes additional compounds such as insulin, its fragment derivatives, IGFs or growth factors or combinations thereof.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Davis et al (Journal of the American Medical Association 79:1, pp 24-26 (January 1989)) for the reasons set forth in the Office Action of January 26, 2005.

Applicant's arguments filed February 6, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant contends that Davis teaches a method of treating inflammation using a composition containing Gibberellin but does not disclose the treatment of diabetes itself which involves bringing a patient's elevated blood glucose level within the normal range. This argument has not been found persuasive. Davis discloses administration of Gibberellins to diabetic mice. Since said mice were diabetic, they had elevated blood glucose levels. The administration of Gibberellins would have lowered said blood glucose levels. Note that the instant claims encompass administration of Gibberellins to diabetic patient, which encompasses diabetic mice. Davis discloses administration of gibberellins to diabetic mice. The administration of the same compound to the same host would inherently produce the same effect.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
